

Yarmouk University recognizes the importance of social sustainability as a comprehensive concept that focuses on achieving a balance between the economy, environment and society on a broad scale, which contributes to building healthy and sustainable societies. In line with its vision and mission, and in implementation of its strategy, the university is keen to hold a group of training courses that focus on the social aspects of sustainability. These courses are designed to provide university faculty and staff with the knowledge, skills and awareness necessary to address social and economic issues, ensuring a more sustainable future for future generations.

It was keen to establish a comprehensive program under the name "Youth Summer," in which all stakeholders interact and discuss training on various social, political, economic, and environmental issues, and launch initiatives and projects among them. Please visit the link .

Training on social environmental aspects

Training program	target group	credits	Time
social responsibility	Academic leaders	20	April 2024
social responsibility	Directors of administrative departments	15	April 2024
social responsibility	New faculty members	20	April 2024
sustainable economic studies	employees	30	Nov 2023
Sustainable development, environmental protection and social responsibility	academic leaders	20	March2024
Sustainability & CSR	employees	20	May2024
food security and sustainability	Directors of administrative departments	15	May2024
Environmental sustainability and social impact	academic staff	30	May2024
Environmental sustainability and social impact	Directors of administrative departments	20	May2024
food security and sustainability	employees	20	June2024

food security and sustainability	student	20	June2024
community peace	academic leaders	15	Aug 2024
community peace	academic staff	15	Aug 2024
community peace	student	15	Aug 2024

<https://aqac.yu.edu.fo/Sustainability/index.php/en/>